Make Your Plan to VOTE! It matters!

The 2016 Presidential election should have erased all doubt about the importance of casting your ballot. President Trump's win came down to about 100,000 votes (out of 63 million) in three states.

The COVID-19 pandemic will affect the mechanics of the fall elections with many states expanding absentee voting and vote by mail programs, while also adjusting polling locations to address safety concerns.

Mail-in voting opens in a few weeks in several states. You can register to vote or check your registration status here. Need a mail-in ballot? Here's how you can request one through your state election office website.

Leader, Academic, Founder: Condoleezza Rice at Beacon 2020

AALU/GAMA is both honored and excited to announce that 66th Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice will be gracing the Main Stage of Beacon, a virtual experience.

Secretary Rice's history and contributions on an academic, national, and international scale precede her. Of her many accomplishments, she currently serves as the Denning Professor in Global Business and the Economy at the Stanford Graduate School of Business, has authored and co-authored numerous books, and serves of the board of directors of countless academic, philanthropic, and business organizations. She will become the Tad and Dianne Taube Director of the Hoover Institution on September 1, 2020.

Secretary Rice has been a keynote speaker at previous AALU/GAMA events, and we are excited to welcome her back at such a pivotal moment in time for not only our organization, but the profession at large. Save the date for her special address during the Presidents Reception at Beacon 2020, September 14.
